

Wholesale Dynamics

Are your planners slaves to their spreadsheets? Advanced planning for wholesale and distribution companies can be a complex process with different requirements. Planners either have to put up with Excel, including all the complex management and inconsistency that entails, or large, over- complicated and expensive systems that are often not as integrated as they seem.

AGR Wholesale Dynamics covers the complete process of managing your supply chain. From the initial product and financial planning process to forecasting, reporting, ordering and allocation through an integrated and highly automated process.

With AGR Wholesale Dynamics, you can manage your supply chain in a logical, consistent way. Wholesale Dynamics is a no-nonsense, fully integrated, uncomplicated alternative to spreadsheets that gives small and mid-sized wholesalers and distributors the same facilities as the “big guys” with less complexity and at a much lower cost.

Planning for Wholesale

Our financial planning and budgeting solution shows you that planning is more than just a numbers game. Give your planners the tools they need to ensure that your strategic financial goals are set to meet your business targets. Manage customer level sales planning and create S&OP processes to improve your sales forecasts and measure them against actual sales figures, all within the same web-based platform.

Wholesale Dynamics offers a simple solution that is cost-efficient, easy to adopt, and gives a breadth of integrated function that is unique to the marketplace.
